

Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst
German Academic Exchange Service

RHEINISCHE
FRIEDRICH-WILHELMS-
UNIVERSITÄT BONN

Ukraine Support

Section 6.3

support@verwaltung.uni-bonn.de
Bonn, December 2022

Future: Ukraine Scholarship Program at the University of Bonn for Refugees from Ukraine

The University of Bonn will be awarding 10 scholarships to students and doctoral candidates from Ukraine as part of the “Future: Ukraine” program launched by the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD). These scholarships are designed to give students affected by the war the best possible conditions under which to complete their studies.

Overview of the call for applications

Who can apply?

Anyone enrolled at the University of Bonn who has fled Ukraine, who has been “[granted] residence for temporary protection” in accordance with § 24 of the German Residence Act (AufenthG, inter alia) and who is taking a preparatory German language course or has begun a degree program at the University of Bonn.

Specifically: Ukrainian citizens whose center of vital interests on February 24, 2022 was in Ukraine and/or who came to Germany in winter semester 2021/2022 in order to spend a semester in Bonn on exchange or to begin a DSH preparatory course; nationals of third countries or stateless persons who enjoy international protection as well as their family members insofar as they were in Ukraine on or before February 24, 2022; nationals of third countries who were in Ukraine on a permanent residence permit on or before February 24, 2022 and who cannot safely return to their home country.

Time:

Funding is available for up to 24 months depending on the timing of the recipient’s studies: January 1, 2023 to December 31, 2024.

Scholarship benefits

Besides the financial support listed below, scholarship recipients will also enjoy an extensive program of accompanying events. There are plans for excursions lasting several days to places rich in European history, such as Berlin, while workshops, training sessions and other activities designed to improve various skills will also be organized. In addition, scholarship recipients will be able to attend an intensive German course in March 2023.

Page 2

How much funding is provided per month?

€931 per month for bachelor's and master's students

€1,200 per month for doctoral students

Application process:

If you are interested, please send us the following by January 15, 2023:

- Your curriculum vitae (in table form)
- Details of your account with a German bank
- A certificate confirming your participation in a DSH preparatory course or proof of enrollment at the University of Bonn or your acceptance letter for doctoral studies
- A letter of motivation
- A copy of your passport and, if you have one, a copy of your residence permit for Germany (nationals of third countries will also need their Ukrainian residence permit)
- Language certificates (German and/or English)
- A letter of recommendation (from a former teacher, a university lecturer, your supervisor in the case of doctoral students)
- Certificates and attestations of voluntary engagement, such as taking part in championships and olympiads.

Documents should be emailed as PDFs to support@verwaltung.uni-bonn.de.

Please contact support@verwaltung.uni-bonn.de if you have any questions about the program or opportunities for studying in Bonn. We would also be happy to arrange a telephone consultation or Zoom meeting.

Contact:

International Office, Section 6.3, Ms. Marina Kohl-Wagner, email:

support@verwaltung.uni-bonn.de, phone: +49 228 73 5948.