

The University of Bonn is an international research university with a wide education and research profile. With a 200-year history, approximately 31,500 students, more than 6,000 staff, and an excellent reputation at home and abroad, the University of Bonn is one of the most important universities in Germany and is recognized as a University of Excellence.

At the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Bonn, a W2 Professorship for Specialized Surgical and Conservative Gynecological Oncology

is to be filled at the earliest opportunity at the Department of Gynecology and Gynecological Oncology on a permanent basis.

The future job holder is to represent the field in its full breadth within research, teaching, and medical treatment, along with duties as a senior physician, at University Hospital Bonn. The Department of Gynecology and Gynecological Oncology (Prof. Dr. med. Dr. hc. A. Mustea) is integrated as a department into the Center for Obstetrics and Gynecology, which also includes the Departments of Obstetrics and Prenatal Medicine (Prof. Dr. med. B. Strizek), Gynecological Endocrinology and Reproductive Medicine (Prof. Dr. med. N. Sängler), and Senology (Prof. Dr. med. A. Faridi).

The future job holder has extensive surgical expertise in treating advanced malignant gynecological tumors, evidenced by an outstanding surgical procedures catalog. Corresponding expertise in necessary systemic therapies and experience in the field of clinical trials is required. Scientifically, the expertise should be demonstrated by corresponding publications and experience in designing and conducting clinical trials. The strengthening of interdisciplinary collaboration within the Center for Integrated Oncology CIO Bonn is expected. Experience in the successful acquisition and implementation of competitive third-party funded projects is desired.

The successful candidate must have completed a university degree in medicine, have a doctorate, a relevant habilitation in gynecological oncology or evidence of equivalent academic achievements, qualification as a medical specialist in gynecology and obstetrics, subspecialty certification in gynecological oncology with subsequent extensive experience in this field, and experience in teaching in accordance with section 36 of the Higher Education Act of North Rhine-Westphalia (Hochschulgesetz NRW).

The University of Bonn is committed to diversity and equal opportunity. It is certified as a family-friendly university. It aims to increase the proportion of women in areas where women are under-represented and to promote their careers in particular. It therefore strongly encourages women with relevant qualifications to apply. Applications will be handled in accordance with the Landesgleichstellungsgesetz (State Equality Act). Applications from suitable individuals with a certified serious disability and those of equal status are particularly welcome.

Qualified candidates are asked to apply via the Appointment Portal of the University of Bonn (<https://berufungsportal.uni-bonn.de>). The application can be submitted in German or English by May 14, 2026.
