

At the Agricultural Faculty at the University of Bonn, Germany, is the full professorship to be filled at the earliest possible date. The professorship is located at the Institute of Geodesy and Geoinformation (IGG).

“W3 - Development of Urban and Rural Regions”

Against the background of increasing urbanization worldwide and the growing threat to settlement areas from natural events and the consequences of climate change, we are looking for a person who can demonstrate relevant, internationally visible scientific work on the development of urban and rural areas with a focus on sustainable land use. We are looking for applicants whose previous research has focused on planning, analytical, methodological or technological aspects of this subject area. The prerequisite is an innovative and coherent research concept with a convincing presentation of possible connections to already established research focuses of the university, the faculty and the institute. Success in the acquisition and implementation of third-party funded projects is a prerequisite. In teaching, the subject area is to be represented in the B.Sc. and M.Sc. degree programs in Geodesy and Geoinformation.

The conditions of employment are according to §36 Hochschulgesetz NRW.

The University of Bonn is committed to diversity and equal opportunity. It is certified as a family-friendly university and has a dual career service. It aims to increase the proportion of women in areas where women are underrepresented and to particularly facilitate their careers. Therefore, the University of Bonn strongly encourages applications from qualified women. Applications will be handled in accordance with the State Equality Act (“Landesgleichstellungsgesetz”). Applications from qualified individuals with a certified severe disability and from those of equal status are particularly welcome.

For further information on this professorship, please contact the chair of the appointments committee, Prof. Dr. Schoof, by email (dekan@lwf.uni-bonn.de). Applications submitted by 15/03/2024 are guaranteed to be considered.
