The Agricultural Faculty at the University of Bonn, Germany, invites applications for a Professorship in Development of Urban and Rural Regions (W2 with Tenure Track to W3) starting as soon as possible. The professorship is affiliated with the Institute of Geodesy and Geoinformation (IGG).

Against the background of worldwide urbanization, climate change and food security concerns, we are looking for a scientist with internationally visible scientific contributions in the field of sustainable land use. The position is open to applicants from all disciplines related to this topic; the previous research focus can be on planning, analytical, methodological or technological aspects. A requirement is a coherent research concept with a convincing presentation of possible connections to already established research priorities of the university, the faculty and the institute. Success in acquiring and implementing third-party funded projects is a prerequisite. In teaching, the subject is represented in the B.Sc. and M.Sc. courses in the field of geodesy and geoinformation.

The conditions of employment are according to §36 Hochschulgesetz NRW. The appointment is initially limited for a period of five years. If the final evaluation is positive, the professorship is tenured at W3 level (full professorship). The tenure-track procedure is accompanied by the Tenure-Track Commission of the Faculty of Agriculture throughout the entire period from the announcement to the final evaluation. The central tenure track regulations of the University of Bonn as well as further information on the tenure track at the University of Bonn can be found at https://www.uni-bonn.de/tenure-track.

The University of Bonn is committed to diversity and equal opportunity. It is certified as a family-friendly university and has a dual career service. It aims to increase the proportion of women in areas where women are underrepresented and to particularly facilitate their careers. Therefore, the University of Bonn strongly encourages applications from qualified women. Applications will be handled in accordance with the State Equality Act (“Landesgleichstellungsgesetz”). Applications from qualified individuals with a certified severe disability and from those of equal status are particularly welcome.

For further information on this professorship, please contact the chair of the appointments committee, Prof. Dr. Haunert, by email (haunert@igg.uni-bonn.de). Applications submitted by 15.07.2022 are guaranteed to be considered. The Appointment Committee reserves the right to also consider applications received after this date.
