The Faculty of Agriculture, University of Bonn, is seeking to appoint a full time

Professorship (W3) ‘Animal Nutrition’

The appointment will commence on August 1st 2023 or as soon as possible thereafter.

The successful candidate is expected to be internationally recognized in the field of nutrition of farm animals whereby the research focus may be within nutritional physiology, feed ration composition or feed science with ruminants and non-ruminants as target species. In the scope of current and future research partnerships, cooperation in one or more of the following subject areas is expected: land use, resource use efficiency, environmental sustainability, animal welfare, or food security and food quality. Active collaboration in particular with the research groups in the Faculty of Agriculture and within the Transdisciplinary Research Areas of the University (TRA, “Innovation and Technology for Sustainable Futures” and “Life and Health”), also in a national and international research context, is anticipated. Moreover, the candidate should actively contribute to the research foci shaping the profile of the animal science group (http://www.itw.uni-bonn.de).

The holder of the position will be responsible for teaching in the degree programs ‘Agrarwissenschafen’ (BSc), ‘Ernährungs- und Lebensmittelwissenschaften’ (BSc), ‘Tierwissenschaften’ (MSc) as well as ‘Agricultural Science and Resource Management in the Tropics and Subtropics’ (ARTS, MSc).

The conditions of employment are according to §36 Hochschulgesetz NRW.

The University of Bonn is committed to diversity and equal opportunity. It is certified as a family-friendly university and has a dual career service.
