

The Faculty of Agriculture of the University of Bonn invites applications for the position

Full Professor (W3) "Production Economics" to be appointed as soon as possible.

The professorship is based at the Institute for Food and Resource Economics (ILR).

We are looking for a person with a distinguished record of internationally visible scientific contributions to the analysis of firm-level decision-making in agriculture and related supply chains and corresponding publications in leading peer-reviewed journals.

We expect a convincing motivation and ability to participate in existing (e.g., PhenoRob Cluster of Excellence and Collaborative Research Center DETECT) and future collaborative research programs of the university, e.g. in the context of the Transdisciplinary Research Area "Technology and Innovation for Sustainable Futures" (TRA6). Willingness to conduct cross-faculty and interdisciplinary research is explicitly desired.

Experience in the acquisition and coordination of third-party funded projects is required. Individuals in an early career phase, or with experience outside the academic sector, who demonstrate excellent achievements in research and teaching, are also encouraged to apply. Teaching responsibilities will be linked to Agricultural Production Economics in the Bachelor and Master programs offered by the faculty. Teaching shall be conducted (if necessary after a training period) in German and in English.

The conditions of employment are according to §36 Hochschulgesetz NRW.

The University of Bonn is committed to diversity and equal opportunity. It is certified as a family-friendly university and has a dual career service. It aims to increase the proportion of women in areas where women are underrepresented and to particularly facilitate their careers. Therefore, the University of Bonn strongly encourages applications from qualified women. Applications will be handled in accordance with the State Equality Act ("Landesgleichstellungsgesetz"). Applications from qualified individuals with a certified severe disability and from those of equal status are particularly welcome.
