The Faculty of Arts of the University of Bonn is seeking to fill the position of a W 3 Professorship in Applied English Linguistics at the Department of English, American, and Celtic Studies at the earliest opportunity.

Candidates should be established researchers with an empirical approach to linguistics who have demonstrated profound expertise in quantitative methods. The department is looking for a candidate with the ability to cover the entire field in research and teaching, with a specialization in at least two of the following areas: Variational linguistics, World Englishes, cognitive linguistics, clinical linguistics, sociolinguistics, psycholinguistics, and/or second language acquisition. Further important qualifications are experience in international and interdisciplinary teaching and research, a commitment to excellent teaching, an interest in joining teaching and research initiatives at the department, faculty, and/or university level, and a willingness to become involved in committee activities and academic administrative duties. Prior experience with securing external funding is also expected.

Application requirements are a relevant PhD and habilitation or equivalent academic achievements.

Prerequisites for employment are in accordance to Section 36 Higher Education Act NRW.

The University of Bonn is committed to diversity and equal opportunity. It is certified as a family-friendly university and has a dual career service. It aims to increase the proportion of women in areas where women are under-represented and to facilitate their careers. The University of Bonn, therefore, strongly encourages women with relevant qualifications to apply. Applications will be dealt with in accordance with the Landesgleichstellungsgesetz (State Equality Act). Applications from suitable individuals with certified serious disability and those of equal status are particularly welcome.

Please apply via our online portal: https://berufungsportal.uni-bonn.de The deadline for applications is March 13, 2022.