The Faculty of Protestant Theology of the University of Bonn invites applications for a Professorate (W3) for Ethics.

This position is to be filled starting October 1\textsuperscript{st}, 2020.

The Faculty of Protestant Theology aims to further strengthen its profile with theology that is current and is intellectually open to taking risks. The faculty is seeking a candidate who actively and creatively contributes to building this profile.

The successful candidate will possess a doctorate and habilitation in the subject of systematic theology with a focus on ethics and, in addition, will demonstrate the ability and willingness to represent the subject of systematic theology in its manifoldness, in all degree programs and also in the English language in teaching.

With regard to research, this role requires a focus on the fields of social ethics and political ethics as well as ethics of digitalization, which may also extend beyond the Faculty of Protestant Theology. Cross-disciplinary cooperation and commitment to raising third-party funds are strongly desired.

Habilitation or equivalent scholarly accomplishments in compliance with § 36 of the law governing the universities of the state of North Rhine-Westphalia (Hochschulgesetz NRW) are conditions of employment.

The University of Bonn is committed to diversity and equal opportunity. It is certified as a family-friendly university and offers a Dual Career Service. The University of Bonn aims to increase the proportion of women in areas where women are underrepresented and to particularly facilitate their careers. To that end, the University strongly encourages applications from qualified women. Applications will be handled in accordance with the State Equality Act (Landesgleichstellungsgesetz). Applications from qualified candidates with a certified severe disability or from those of equal status are particularly welcome.

Qualified candidates should submit their application to the
